Delineation of Responsibility Between the Military Services and CIA for Evasion and Escape (Including Aid to U. S.
Prisoners of War)

REFERENCES: (a) TS 145690 of 3 August 1956
(b) TS 146095 of 22 August 1956

1. Reference (a), which was a prior draft to reference (b), was reviewed and commented on by this office on 10 August 1956.

2. Reference (b) has been reviewed by this office and it is believed that the logistic implications are primarily communications and procurement of prototypes of new and existing escape aids.

3. Procurement of quantities of such aids as may be requested by the Military Services does not appear to present a logistical problem as the Logistics Appendix to the Unconventional Warfare Annex of JSCP provides that Unconventional Warfare reserve stocks required to support E & E plans be established prior to D-Day. Levels of supply will be based on actual or anticipated capabilities to support E & E plans.
